

L.B. Foster Pueblo, CO Plant Achieves ISO 9001:2000 Certification

September 4, 2007

Acknowledges Company Focus on Quality Management

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Pittsburgh-based L.B. Foster Company (Nasdaq: FSTR) announced that it's Pueblo, CO Allegheny Rail Products facility achieved ISO 9001:2000 Certification on August 22, 2007. This plant fabricates insulated rail joints and accessories.

This facility now joins two other L.B. Foster Allegheny Rail Products locations -- a plant in Niles, OH and offices in Pittsburgh, PA -- that have achieved this recognition and are registered under the same ISO 9001:2000 certificate. Four other businesses within L.B. Foster have also received ISO 9001:2000 Certification, including Transit Products, Coated Products, Threaded Products and CXT, Inc. (a manufacturer of concrete railroad ties and precast concrete buildings).

According to Neal Dow, L.B. Foster's Manager of Quality Control and Regulatory Compliance, "This recognition is significant because Pueblo's business practices meet the international standard for operational excellence. We also received high marks from the auditor regarding the understanding of quality practices by every one of our employees at this plant and their ability to effectively communicate that understanding."

Per Sid Shue, General Manager -- Rail Products Engineering, "We are very proud that this facility, which opened only about one year ago, was able to attain this achievement in such a short period of time. It is a tribute to the employees at Pueblo and their dedication to the quality process in everything that they do."

The company can be contacted via telephone at 412-928-3400 or 1-800-255-4500 or reached through its corporate website, www.lbfoster.com.

L.B. Foster Company is a leading manufacturer, fabricator and distributor of products for rail, construction, utility and energy industries. Through Rail Products, it serves customers in the transit, freight and industrial rail markets.
